traveled by bus from Spindleruv Mlyn to Vrchlabi (N 50-38, E 15-36) and from Vrchlabi to Prerov (N 49-27, E 17-27) by train. Passengers on the bus, who lived in the area through which the bus traveled, pointed to an area where there were snow-covered mounds. The passengers stated that exploratory digging for uranium had taken place in fall 1953 but had ceased when winter came. Activity was to be resumed in spring 1954 and ski lodges, pensions, and hotels in Spindleruv Mlyn were to be closed to tourists. Although no definite time had been set for closing the town, it was then open to tourists for the last time.
